Terms and Conditions

"The Software is and will stay interoperable"

means that we will use our best efforts to keep a general-released version of the Software in compliance with the Ambulatory Electronic Health Records interoperability standards set forth in the CCHIT Certification program or such other CMS-sanctioned, national interoperability standard applicable to Ambulatory EHRs. Should we fail to use our best efforts to keep a general released version of the Software in compliance with such applicable national interoperability standard for Ambulatory EHRs then You can terminate the Agreement and obtain a refund of the SuiteMed Software license fees paid by You provided: (i) You send us a written request for same, (ii) we fail to take such reasonable steps to correct such failure within sixty days from receipt of your written request and (iii) you return all Software purchased from Company.

"The Software will continue to meet established requirements to participate in federal health incentive programs" means that through our Software Maintenance Services we are, and will continue to be, diligent in providing features that enable the Software to capture and report clinical data in support of the efforts that You make to participate in federal pay-for-performance and "pay for meaningful use" incentive programs.

SuiteMed's obligations apply only to the standard code, screens and workflow of the then-most current version of SuiteMed IMS™ software products and Customer being current on support services, complying with the SuiteMed IMS™ service policy and, if SuiteMed IMS™ so requires, installing software fixes, patches or updates or migrating to a new or different SuiteMed IMS™ software offering and materially complying with agreed upon project timelines, staffing and scope.

All capitalized terms have the meanings ascribed to them in your SuiteMed IMS™ Software License and Services Agreement.
